MAKE IT A NICE SQUARE

Don't Build On the City's Only Breathing Spot.

KEEP IT AS NICE AS POSSIBLE

There Are Not Enough Such Places According to Authorities, and They Should Be Watched With Care—What Some Men Say.

When this paper suggested that council make a park of the city's possessions at Third and Market street, keeping the ground neat and clean, it was endorsed by hundreds of people, and among other suggestions a long list of opinions from mayors in different parts of the country have been received.

"In my judgment," says Mayor Latrobe, of Baltimore, "the open squares and parks of a city are the breathing places for its people, and under no circumstances should they be encroached upon. This opinion is formed after an experience of 14 years as mayor of this city."

Edwin N. Curtis, of Boston, remarks that "public parks have been found to be necessary for the preservation of health, and they should be jealously guarded for the benefit of the people. The low death rate of London is thought to be due to a plentiful supply of good water and the many parks, large and small, giving breathing spaces within the city limits."

"Open spaces however small they may be, are the most desirable as breathing places for the people, especially the poorer classes. It is quite an item for a poor man to be compelled to pay even so small a sum as 10 cents for a round trip to take his wife and children to a park that is situated on the outskirts of a city, but if there are breathing spots nearby where his little ones can play beneath the trees it is, to say the least, a great blessing for him. Let grounds be donated by progressive citizens or purchased out of public funds, and let the small parks be made as numerous as possible in order that the people may enjoy them," says Mayor Davis, of Kansas City.

Mayor Olney, of Providence, R. I., is in favor of securing as many breathing places in the midst of densely populated districts as possible, believing that a bit of green can not but affect the dispositions of people. His city is even now grading and sodding several small plots of land in the business sections in order to carry out that idea.

"I think the time will come," says Mayor McMurray, of Denver, "when American cities will be buying whole blocks and grounds and tearing down buildings in order to give breathing places for the people. A city can not have too many of these public squares for the benefit of those whose time and means will not allow them to go to the pleasant parks in the outskirts."

"Within my memory," says Mayor Hendrick, of New Haven, Conn., "buildings have been removed from our central public square and the attempt to occupy any part of it with any kind of a building would be considered a sacrifice and never to be permitted."

Mayor Bancroft, of Cambridge, Mass., says: "We have a large number of open spaces in our city, and have recently acquired others." The question of erecting a public building on the square was emphatically rejected 20 years ago, which seemed to settle the matter for all time in Springfield.

Mayor Warwick, of Philadelphia, says: "I strongly favor the preservation of the open squares for the public use, for the purposes of ventilation, light and pleasure rather than for the occupation of buildings of any character."

"It is a mistake for cities to take their public squares for building purposes. The squares should be kept for the purpose for which they were intended," is the belief of Mayor Nelson, of Albany.

So say we all of us. These arguments were gathered in opposition to the plan of building on the fine square at Cleveland by a newspaper in that city, but it all has its effect. This city is not as large as the places presided over by the men quoted above, but its position in the valley is such as to show the necessity of public parks. Each night the Diamond is a living proof that the city owes this to its people. One merchant complains because he closes his store at 6 o'clock, and when he comes back in the morning he must sweep a peck or two of peanut shells into the street. He does not blame the men who put those shells there. Some of them live in houses without yards, and after working in a hot factory during the day have no other place to meet their friends than in the Diamond. If the ground at city hall was nicely sodded or the old cemetery was a park there would be no need of an ordinance to keep people moving, and the police would not be troubled in that way. These improvements would not cost much in dollars and cents, yet the benefit derived from them would be great. Who is the patriot to set the ball a rolling?

WANT IT PAVED.

Calcutta Road People to Petition City Council.

If the present condition of the Calcutta road counts for anything the petition now being circulated in that section is by no means premature.

The tearing up of the board walks occasioned much indignation among the residents as it left numerous holes in the ground and made what they claim a thoroughfare fully as dangerous as before. Since the rain the road is in bad shape and it is almost impossible for pedestrians to get up or down. Instead of thinking about a new walk however the people are signing a petition to have the road graded and paved from the Horn switch to Wall street, just above Grant street. Either this or a new board walk, which will cost not less than $250, seems absolutely necessary if children are to go to the Grant street school this fall.

Township Trustee Beardmore says if council will make a street, such as the people want, he will promise that the trustees and commissioners will improve the road from where council stops to the cemetery and make it satisfactory. A count shows that almost 2,400 people and 324 carriages used the road in a day of ordinary travel from 6 o'clock a. m. to 6 p. m., and is proof that the road is traveled.

THE BOARD TIPPED

And an East End Man Was Injured at Thomas'.

There was another accident at the Thomas Knob works yesterday and one of the workmen is laid up today as a result, although it is thought that his injuries will not prove serious.

Harvey Morrow was working with the carpenters on the new addition to the works and about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon was engaged in carrying a heavy beam to the place it was needed. He stepped on a plank stretched across the skeleton work and it tipped up, precipitating him across one of the beams below. He fell astraddle of the beam, while the one he was carrying came down on his body with considerable force. He was unable to move for some time after released from his painful position, but unless internally injured he will soon recover.

DEFENDING OFFICER JENNINGS.

Mayor Gilbert Says That He Did Right.

In speaking of the crowd jeering Officer Jennings because he refused to arrest the brother of Officer Earle on Thursday night Mayor Gilbert defends the policeman in words which can not be mistaken. He says the police are frequently called upon to help men, who are not drunk enough to arrest, on their way home, and the crowd has no right to talk back to an officer. In the future there will be arrests if crowds become demonstrative.

Going to Tennessee.

J. S. Dixon is winding up his affairs preparatory to moving to Tellehoma, Tenn., and his son will leave on Monday. Fred Riley, of East End, will take a trip through that section in the hope of finding a location. Mr. Riley's brother, Joe, who has been in Kansas for many years will move back to Liverpool soon, and will occupy a property in the East End.

TO TEST THE NEW WELL

Board of Health Will Have Diamond Water Examined.

WILL MEET WITH COMMISSIONERS

A Committee Will Talk Over Proposed Changes In the Sewers on Several Streets and Alleys—There Was a Good Meeting and Many Matters to Consider.

All members of the board of health were in their seats last night when Mayor Gilbert rapped for order, with the exception of Chambers and George, and there were no preliminaries. The following bills were quickly disposed of:

News Review Company, $7.20; C. B. Ogden, $25; J. T. King, $50; O. Smitbauer, $2; J. T. King, $3.25.

Then Doctor Ogden's report for June was submitted, which showed that 22 male and 20 female children had been born during the month, all of them being white except one. There were only four deaths, equally divided between the sexes and all of them white. One dead animal was removed, one permit taken out for the construction of a vault, and 34 for the removal of nightsoil. One dead cat, one horse and 13 dogs had been buried. Officer King broached the question of sewers on Second, Third and Sixth streets and on Dew Drop and Peach alleys. It was bad in all these places, but particularly on Third street. The people, he had learned, cannot stand improvements unless they are levied as taxes, but he had investigated and thought something should be done. There are a great many children on these streets, and if disease should break out, and there is danger of it appearing, the board of health must bear the blame. Engineer George had requested the board to meet the sewer commissioners, and settle upon a plan. Mr. Purinton moved the committee be chosen and report to the board two weeks from last night. Messrs Purinton, Kauffman and Thomas were appointed for that purpose.

The matter of bids for the removal of nightsoil appeared, and Clerk Grosshans frankly admitted that he had forgotten all about it. King remarked that he believed the night soiler would be done work in a week, at which Mr. Purinton laughingly remarked that, he had promised this six weeks ago. Nothing was done with the matter, and it gave way to the suggestion of Mr. Purinton that the health officer arrange for the dumping of night soil from the Surles float. King informed them that Schmidtbauer was thinking of selling his business to two other parties, who expected to build a float of their own. Purinton said that remained to be seen, and the motion carried.

The sanitary condition of the Darragh property on Jefferson street was broached by King, who said he had been there and made an inspection. The sanitary condition of the place was all right, but a sewer should be built to the vault. Other physicians except Doctor Ogden, he said, had complained, and something should be done. He thought a sewer should be built, although the claim was made the owners of the property were not able. The matter was disposed of by Mr. Purinton stating it would be settled at the meeting with the sewer commissioners, and the Diamond well was opened by the mayor. He thought the water was bad, and so did the other members of the board. A letter from Doctor Probst was read in which he suggested the sending of these samples of water, one from each basin, to Prof. C. C. Howard, of Sterling college. The board decided to act on the plan, and garbage was discussed. Mr. Kauffman was the only member who knew anything about it, and he no more than that a dead cat had lain on West Market street until it had dried up and blown away. Then the board went home.

After the meeting Mr. King spoke of a place where night soil had been removed, but the occupant of the premises was in hard luck and unable to pay the bill. He thought the man would have to give up his property, so hard pushed was he.

LIVERPOOL INDICTMENTS.

Some of Our Wicked Ones Before the Grand Jury.

Special to the News Review.

Lisbon, July 6.—The special grand jury finished its work last night, and among the indictments found are a number of Liverpool men.

John Brighthouse must answer for assault and battery, and John Patterson, of Wellsville, has a charge of larceny to combat. Walter Hale and Charles Button are two Salem men who must face assault with intent to rob, and John Brown is to answer for pocket picking at Liverpool. Brown will be remembered as the man who is charged with robbing Slack. Milo Cain and Harry Farr were jointly indicted for robbing and assault with intent to rob, two charges being placed against each. The case will be remembered by Liverpool people. Charles Mercer, who was in the row at Clarkson on July 4, was indicted for shooting with intent to wound.

WHAT IS IN IT?

Is the Proposed Electric Line a Steam Road?

For several weeks there have been intimations that the proposed electric line from Lisbon to the river was nothing more than an extension of the Lake Erie road. The story has been denied, but today the News Review learned from a source which should be authoritative that there was activity in the engineer's office of the Lake Erie road, and if the electric line was not under their care they were preparing to do something in this direction.

M. BROZKA'S BILL.

He Did Not Appeal the Case Against Farmer.

The ten days allowed M. Broska to appeal his part of the Farmer litigation died out last night, and he will have a nice little bill to settle. The $15 damages said to have been sustained by the derick and costs amounting to $20 are to be paid by him, while his only recourse is to watch his chance and serve the execution.

James McBane last night signed the required bond, and the Dixon-Goddard case will go to common pleas court for settlement.

RECOVERED THE GOODS.

Chief Gill Finds a Web of White Stuff Today.

A Wellsville woman sought the aid of Chief Gill today in recovering some stolen goods. A Liverpool girl had been working at her house, but early in the week left without notice. With her went enough of some white goods to make two dresses, and the woman applied to the police. Chief Gill took her to the old Ainsley house, and there found the girl. The dresses were returned, and no charge was entered, although that may come later. The names of the parties are not known.

A MYSTERIOUS CASE.

The Police Working On a Burglary of Which Little Is Known.

Two stores in the business heart of the city were burglarized the other night, and the matter was placed in the hands of Chief Gill who has since been working with a view to locate the thieves. It is a mysterious case, and but little of it is known. The chief has but little to say, and the merchants will not give out any information. It is hoped the chief will run the thieves to earth, and he certainly will do it if they left the semblance of a clue behind them.

WOLF AS MUSICIAN.

He Is Still in Jail and Whiles the Hours Away in Song.

Joseph Wolf, the West End man who was gathered in by the police on Thursday night for allowing liquor to control him, was last night fined $10 and costs which he could not pay. Friends are endeavoring to raise the amount, but if it can not be secured Wolf will be taken to the workhouse. He spends the dreary hours in singing hymns and popular songs his favorite being "Sweet Marie." Caton was not taken to Lisbon today, but will make the trip on Monday.

ALL A MISTAKE.

An Error in a Name Loses a Case For J. S. Dixon.

When John S. Dixon filed a suit against John Sant the other day for $8 he thought he had the right man, but Squire Morley discovered this morning that it was all a mistake. It was John Salt, a young man who was engaged here in the confectionary business, who was wanted, and the case was dismissed at Dixon's cost. The error was made by the plaintiff who always thought the man's name was Sant.

He Carried Insurance.

The late Charles Pancake was a member of Crocker's tent, No. 131, Knights of the Maccabees; a member of the Supreme tent and of the Great Camp of Ohio. His insurance therein sums up $3,000. Deceased also held $2,000 in one of the old line companies.

WITHIN A FEW WEEKS

The Potteries In the City Will Be In Operation.

WHAT THE MANUFACTURERS SAY

All Have Large Stocks But They Are Going to Move Right Along—One Week From Monday the Date of Several, and the Middle of July For Others.

There is a brighter prospect in the industrial condition of the city just now, and a few weeks will see many of the potteries in operation. So much has been said about the resumption of work, and so many have been confident that there would be no fall trade, that the News Review decided to strike at the root of all information, the companies' offices. A brief interview with persons with authority to speak brought out intelligence that will be cheerfully received in every household in the city, and will bring smiles again to faces that have been wearing a worried look these past few weeks.

At the Knowles, Taylor & Knowles office there was no one to speak with authority when the reporter asked his question, but it is generally understood the plant will be in operation by the middle of the month. The stock is large.

The Sebring company have not shut down entirely, the packers and decorators being employed every day. Secretary E. H. Sebring said they expected to start one week from Monday with a full force. Their stock is larger than usual at this season, but their salesmen were even now out for orders.

The Thompson company will start one week from Monday with a full force. They have a good stock on hand, but will soon be turning out more.

G. W. Croxall replied in answer to the question of the reporter that they could not tell when they would start, although he believed it would be within two weeks. They have a large stock in the warehouse.

The D. E. McNicol Pottery company will have their men at work work next week, perhaps on Tuesday. The stock is large, and orders are not flying around like snow flakes, but they will start at the appointed time.

The officials at the Standard have not yet hit upon a date for starting. They have a big stock on hand, and are making some improvements, but they will probably be going in two weeks.

At the office of the Burford company it was learned that work would not be delayed, as the indications pointed now, for more than a week from Monday. The company are making improvements, and already have a warehouse full of goods.

Manager Fowler, of the Union, expressed as his belief that one week from Monday would see the plant in operation. It was a little indefinite because they are making repairs.

When asked their time for starting, Monroe Patterson, of the East Liverpool, said they were drawing a kiln today, but all the hands would be working about the middle of the month. They have no more stock on hand than they had the first of the year.

"We will start on Monday in full," came the answer through the telephone from Laughlin's pottery. The plant has been in operation, but all the employees were not at work. Monday will see them all in place.

"I can't tell when we will start," was the answer from Harker's, and when asked if it would be the middle of the month, the positive reply came that they could not tell. As things were now they didn't know anything about it.

The Cartwright pottery will in all probability be in operation a week from Monday. As yet it is rather hard for the management to tell, but if orders show any sort of an improvement the pottery will be started in full the middle of the month.

The management of the Globe pottery could not tell when they would start, although their stock is not unusually large.

The Goodwin pottery will start in full as soon as possible, a force of men being now engaged in repairing the kilns.

The Dresden will start with all the employees one week from Monday.

Mr. Owen at the Mountford pottery said this morning that the plant will be started not later than July 15. The stock is not large.

The West End pottery has never stopped, they say at the office, and there is no necessity of starting again.

Only the office force and the shipping department are in operation at the Specialty. No date for resumption is given out.

IMPORT ORDERS.

The New York correspondent of a trade paper is kind enough to say that the import orders of crockery during the spring amounted to more than even the importers expected, and some have been compelled to refuse trade, so great was the increase over sales of three years ago. That is why the potteries have been idle, and hundreds of Liverpool potters have loafed in the Diamond when they should have been working in the potteries. Every order for an importer meant so much from the work of the American factory, and the raising of a standard that has already proved dangerous. When Liverpool salesmen get out among their customers they will make a strong bid for trade because they can present advantages which they did not possess earlier in the year. The price of crockery is on the bottom notch, and it will stay there until a protective tariff prevents the Englishman from ruining the market. Unless the business judgment of far seeing manufacturers is at fault, the importers will not be able to say in a year from now that they refused orders because they could not fill them.

A COMMENDABLE MOVE.

The business men of Springfield, Mass., know the necessity of showing their patriotism in a practical way, and realize that faith without works is little less than a delusion and a mockery. Recently they inaugurated what they call an American week, when all the stores were decorated with American goods, and purchasers were shown the advantages in purchasing the products of American workshops and factories. For years it has been the custom to deride and laugh at anything American in the way of finished product, and goods which were made within a hundred miles of New York have been sold as imported matter. If every town in the country would follow the example of Springfield, the buying public would not be long in locating American wares. They would grow accustomed to seeing them upon the counters and shelves, and would ask for them when they entered a store. Gradually the purchaser would awake to a realization of the truth, and this nonsense about foreign merchandise being better than domestic product would soon sink into the earth and be lost forever. American stores would then contain American goods, made in American shops by American workmen. That is what we want. It is what every man wants, for it will keep the mills and factories going, and will give the people employment. If we had American days, say one every week, there would be a marked improvement in the condition of business.

MINERS USE THE TORCH

West Virginia Strikers Desperate From Hunger.

SOLDIERS ARE READY TO MOVE.

Governor MacCorkle Watching the Situation and Has Affairs Well In Hand. Strikers Meeting Trains and Driving Non-Unionists Out of the Region.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., July 6.—Governor MacCorkle has received the following telegram from the president of the Pulaski Iron company: "Our men peacefully at work at Echman and are threatened and interfered with. There is danger of destruction of property and bloodshed, if troops are not sent. We ask the protection we are entitled to as taxpayers to permit us to carry on our business."

He also received the following from Elkhorn: "The situation is such in the coal fields that we have no longer control of business. The strikers are heavily armed with Winchester and overawe and drive imported labor from the works by threats of death. Negro strikers in large bodies meet trains nightly and with Winchester and clubs say no men shall work. Have troops sent at once, as an outbreak is imminent."

The governor wired Sheriff Effer that a demand has been made for troops and instructed him to go to the scene at once and wire the exact condition of affairs, and send for troops if the situation warrants.

The governor's private secretary also left by special train over the Norfolk and Western for the Elkhorn region. United States Marshal Garden, who is at his home in Wheeling, was sent a telegram to go at once to the scene.

A Huntington special says: Companies I and C of the state militia here have just received orders from Governor MacCorkle, at Charleston, to report at the Pocahontas mining district at once.

Later dispatches state that Governor MacCorkle has ordered the Second regiment national guards under arms, and to be ready to move at a moment's notice. Most of the companies of this regiment are on the line of the Ohio River railroad, and a special train is in readiness at Parkersburg, to start south for the seat of war, gathering the companies enroute. A special just received is to the effect that the miners throughout the Elkhorn region are rioting, having burned houses and committed other depredations.

The Elkhorn mining region is on the Norfolk and Western road, near the boundary of Virginia, and is on the West Virginia side of the line at which the governor of Virginia has had troops for two months past. The present trouble is supposed to be due to the long strike, during which the strikers have been driven to desperation through hunger. Governor MacCorkle has been watching affairs closely and has matters well in hand.

Prominent Woman Murders Her Husband.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 6.—A strange story is brought from India via Hongkong by the steamer City of Rio Janeiro. The narrative tells of the murder of J. F. C. Lester, acting superintendent of police at Codra by his wife. The woman says her husband was brutal to her. Mr. Lester was the nephew of Sir Edwin Arnold, and the son of an old Bombay general, and Mrs. Lester is the daughter of Colonel Braham, an old Indian campaigner.

A Hypnotized Poetess.

ATHENS, Ga., July 6.—There has died here a woman who seems to possess peculiar power as a poet. She was Miss Sue Mitchell, who was past middle life. Of late years she claims to have had "spells," during which some power made her write. She wrote weird and strong poetry, which, however, she did not herself compose, she said, being under the hypnotic influence at the time.

Shops to Be Reopened.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., July 6.—J. E. O'Hearn, superintendent of the Union Pacific shops here, who has returned from a conference with the receivers at Omaha, posted a notice that the shops will be reopened Aug. 1 on the Denver scale. This is a reduction of but 25 cents a day to machinists, while the remainder of the schedule remains unchanged.

Repudiates Its Bonds.

SILVER CITY, N. M., July 6.—The city council has refused to levy a tax for the payment of interest on its bonded indebtedness, amounting to $50,000, thus practically repudiating the bonds. The debt was refunded three years ago at 7 per cent. There is great excitement over the matter, and some of the city officials may resign.

Oil Leases Sold.

WHEELING, July 6.—At a meeting of the Digby Oil company of this city the Freedmen well and 1,400 acres of leases on the Ohio side of the river, near Sistersville, were sold to the Eastern Oil company of New York for $145,000.

A PHILADELPHIA SENSATION.

Young Dr. Palen Sued For Breach of Promise by a Nurse.

PHILADELPHIA, July 6.—Dr. Gilbert Joseph Palen, one of Philadelphia's most prominent society men, has been arrested on a sheriff's capias, on a writ charging him with breach of promise of marriage. His father is a nephew of the late Jay Gould. On June 11 he married Miss Mary Adamson, a prominent society lady. The suit is for $25,000. The plaintiff is Miss Margaret May Thompson, a nurse.

Dr. Palen says it is a case of blackmail. His lawyer said: "While Dr. Palen was pursuing his medical studies he was assigned for practice to the Philadelphia Lying In Charity. There he made the acquaintance in a purely professional way of Miss Thompson, the plaintiff. He considered her a bright young nurse—efficient in her duties and possessing many engaging qualities, being pretty and educated."

While Dr. Palen was attending at the Lying In hospital Miss Thompson was taken seriously ill with typhoid fever somewhere in this city. She sent for young Dr. Palen, desiring him to attend her in her illness. He consented to attend her, and called frequently to see her, for she was a very sick woman. Her natural gratitude for her recovery, which she attributed to Dr. Palen's attendance, prompted her to write to him. This started a correspondence between them, which was carried on quite innocently on Dr. Palen's part."

Charged With the Oregon Robbery.

WASHINGTON, July 6.—Chief Post-office Inspector Wheeler has been notified of the arrest at Riddle, Or., of an ex-convict, John Case, charged with the recent train robbery of the Southern Pacific railroad. The man is positively identified by the train hands as the robber who went through the train. The Poole boys, with whom Case has been living, have been arrested and there appears to be a good case against them, though they claim that they can prove an alibi. Colonel Wheeler believes that the arrested men can be connected with the Roseburg-Kanath stage robbery.

Deficit Will Increase This Week.

WASHINGTON, July 6.—The July disbursements of the government are always unusually heavy, owing to large interest and pension payments, and treasury officials rarely expect the income to meet the expenditures this month. A small pile of bricks was blown out of one corner of the latter. The bomb thrower evidently not only intended to destroy the house, but the lives of the occupants as well. There is no clue to the perpetrator of the deed.

DUN'S TRADE REVIEW.

Midsummer Reports Show a Better Outlook In All Lines.

WOOL STRONG HERE AND ABROAD.

Sales Enormous Though Largely Speculative—Wheat Slightly Depressed by Speculation—Corn and Oats Prospects Improved The Failures.

New York, July 6.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade issued today says: The midsummer reports from all commercial centers are of special interest, covering the questions on which the future of business depends. They indicate distinctly better crop prospects than other official or commercial accounts, a marked increase in retail distribution of products, an active demand for goods and a general enlargement of the working forces with some advance in the wages of more than half a million hands. At the same time they show that the rapid advance in prices has somewhat checked the buying of a few classes of products. In some parts of the country, the outlook for fall trade is considered bright.

Comparison of prices for various iron products shows an advance ranging from 7.2 per cent since February, for wire nails to 7.1 per cent, for anthracite pig and in all kinds averaging 3.2 per cent. The demand and rise have come so suddenly that even while the first order for shipments of steel billets to Europe, given some time ago when prices were low, is being announced, the price here has advanced from $17 in April to $22.25, or about 31 per cent. Wool is stronger, both here and abroad, the London sales opening July 2 at higher prices and the average for 104 qualities of domestic wool quoted by Coates Brothers has risen nearly half a cent since June 15.

Sales have been enormous, though largely speculative, but exceeding those of May and June in any previous year, being 26,597,615 domestic and 27,457,100 foreign, against 24,232,400 domestic and 19,076,150 for 1892. There is a growing demand for heavy weight wools, and many new kinds of light-weights have been opened with notable irregularities in prices, some lower and others higher than last year. But the manufacture is better sustained than last year was expected, and the feeling is very hopeful, and especially as labor troubles have substantially ended. Prices of cotton goods also continue to advance and the mills are generally well employed.

Speculation has advanced cotton three sixteenths, though the crop news is favorable but has depressed wheat 2 cents in spite of estimates since June 1. Every year the crop reports are having less influence and the time is ripe for the radical change in government estimates which the department proposes. The year closes with more than 2,600,000 bales of American cotton available here and abroad, and with at least 65,000,000 bushels surplus wheat, although some make the quantity 30,000,000 bushels larger. The crop of oats is certain to be large and the prospects for corn has greatly improved within the last few weeks.

There were 6,657 commercial failures in the first half of 1893, against 7,039 in the first half of 1894, and 6,401 in the first half of 1893. These commercial failures involved liabilities of $58,839,944 this year, against $101,735,306 last year, and $168,864,444 in 1893. Manufacturing failures for the half year were 1,394, against 1,501 last year, and liabilities $40,301,949, against $41,376,102 last year, and about $39,000,000 in the first half of 1892. Trading failures for the half year were 5,335, against 5,402 last year, and liabilities $43,669,830, against $52,945,978 last year, and about $61,000,000 in 1892. Manufacturing failures were in number 36 of 1 per cent of all manufacturing concerns, against 42 last year, with liabilities averaging $113 for every such concern, against $117 last year.

Trading failures were 64 of 1 per cent of all firms in business against .64 last year, with liabilities averaging only $4 for every such concern in business, against $42 last year, with liabilities averaging $113 for every such concern, against $117 last year.

Banking failures were 63, with liabilities of $14,653,276, against 63 last year, with liabilities of $13,184,461. The details show a decrease in every class of failures in the second, compared with the first quarter of 1893, both in number and magnitude, and defaulting liabilities averaging $4 against $40 for every firm in business and $3.04 against $4.03 for every $1,000 solvent payments.

A CHICAGO MAN'S CRIME.

He Murders His Wife and Four Children and Kills Himself.
CHICAGO, July 6.—Frederick Hellmann, a well-to-do mason contractor, has murdered his wife and four children and then killed himself. He turned on the gas, which killed them. It was at first supposed that Hellmann and his wife and children met death by accident, but it developed at the coroner's inquest that the wholesale murder was calmly planned, and that the man intended to kill himself and end the existence of the members of his family.

The dead man and his victims are: Frederick Hellmann, aged 37; Mrs. Ida Hellmann, aged 32; Fred Hellmann, Jr., aged 11; Ida Hellmann, aged 10; William Hellmann, aged 7, and Hedwig Hellmann, the 3-year-old daughter. The tragedy took place in a little brick cottage at the corner of Cornelia and Wood street. The motive for the crime may never be known, but it is supposed the act was that of a mad man, as Hellmann ten years ago had a sunstroke from which he never recovered completely.

WELLSVILLE.

SUDDEN THE SUMMONS

That Carried Joseph Parker to His Last, Long Home.

HE DIED OF HYDROPHOBIA

Having Been Bitten by a Dog Several Months Ago—The Wound Was Trifling and Nothing Was Thought of It—Death Came in a Few Minutes After the Attack.

Joseph Parker, a young man well known here who lived in the upper part of town was several months ago playing with a dog when the animal bit him on the end of the finger. It was not looked upon as dangerous, and the wound soon healed. The thought of hydrophobia never entered Parker's head, and he had long since forgotten the occurrence. Last night he crossed the river to Hamilton-town, and was calling on some friends there when they noticed he was acting in an unusual manner. Within half an hour he showed unmistakable signs of hydrophobia, and before medical aid could be summoned the man was dead. His friends were notified, and the remains were taken to Wellsville by the undertaker. Funeral services will be held tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock with interment in Spring Hill cemetery. The sad death of the young man from such a trifling cause is deeply deplored by his many friends, and has served to further excite the people of Grant district who have been fearing mad dogs.

WALL THEM UP.

Those Open Jail Windows a Source of Annoyance.

Persons residing in the vicinity of city hall are hoping against hope that the noises of last Sunday will not be repeated tomorrow. They were then compelled to listen while prisoners used the most profane and vile language imaginable. The people are talking of presenting a petition to council asking them to have the windows at the rear of the jail walled up.

MUZZLE THE DOGS.

A New Move Which Will Result in Precautions.

The death of Joseph Parker from hydrophobia last night has roused the town, and there is talk of having all the dogs muzzled or locked up at once. Mayor Sinclair favors the move, and prominent residents think there should be no delay. A mad dog is said to have been killed in the lower part of town one day last week.

ASSIST NATURE

a little now and then in removing offending matter from the stomach and bowels and you thereby avoid a multitude of distressing derangements and diseases, and will have less frequent need of your doctor's service.

Of all known agents for this purpose, Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are the best. Once used, they are always in favor. Their secondary effect is to keep the bowels open and regular, not to further constipate, as is the case with other pills. Hence, their great popularity with sufferers from habitual constipation, piles and their attendant discomfort and manifold derangements. The "Pellets" are purely vegetable and perfectly harmless in any condition of the system. No care is required while using them; they do not interfere with the diet, habits or occupation, and produce no pain, griping or shock to the system. They act in a mild, easy and natural way and there is no reaction afterward. Their help lasts.

The Pellets cure biliousness, sick and bilious headache, dizziness, costiveness, or constipation, sour stomach, loss of appetite, coated tongue, indigestion, or dyspepsia, windy belching, "heartburn," pain and distress after eating, and kindred derangements of the liver, stomach and bowels. In proof of their superior excellence, it can be truthfully said, that they are always adopted as a household remedy after the first trial. Put up in sealed, glass vials, therefore always fresh and reliable. One little "Pellet" is a laxative, two are mildly cathartic. As a "dinner pill," to promote digestion, or to relieve distress from over-eating, take one after dinner. They are tiny, sugar-coated granules; any child will readily take them.

Accept no substitute that may be recommended to be "just as good." It may be better for the dealer, because of paying him a better profit, but he is not the one who needs help.

Want to Live Long.

Several members of the board of health are members of the Ralston health club and more enthusiastic people would be hard to find. The health club was discussed after the meeting of the board last night and Mr. Purinton so interested his hearers that all came to the conclusion that if the simple rules laid down in the book were lived up to anyone who pleased could live forever. Mr. Thomas amused by saying that, forgetful of the laws of health, he had sat up all night to read the book because it was so interesting. Then the reporters thought of the joy of being able in the year 2500 to frown and say to the alleged old resident when he told a 50-year-old story: "Why, you're not in it; when we were young in 1895, etc." so Mr. Purinton smiled and took orders for five books, and the after meeting broke up.

THREE GREAT GOLFERS

Lady Scott, Melville and Taylor the English Champions.

THE FAIR ONE THRICE A VICTOR.

On the Other Side the Ladies' Championships Are Played Over Courses "as Flat as a Pancake"—Melville Played With a Club When but Two Years Old.

Golf, the famous Scotch game, is now the most popular athletic fad of society, and no one is considered strictly up to date in swiftness unless he or she knows a hazard from a tee. The United States Golf association now consists of ten associate clubs, there are a number of clubs waiting to be added to the list of allied members, and fully 15,000 people in the United States are playing the game. There will be a constant succession of tournaments from Aug. 15 to Nov. 1 in the east, and there is a prospect of winter tournaments at Lakewood, Cape May and at the fashionable resorts along the Atlantic coast, from Fort Monroe and Virginia Beach to Florida.

Not long ago the English championships were held, and the thousands of players in this country will be interested in reading about the best players on the other side. The greatest lady player in England, Scotland, Ireland and Wales is Lady Margaret Scott.

To the Wimbledon Ladies' Golf club belongs the honor of having first thought of forming a ladies' golfing union and instituting a ladies' championship. This was in 1893, and it was decided on the links at St. Anne's-on-the-Sea. Thirty-five players contested the event, Lady Margaret Scott winning the final match by 7 up and 5 to play from Miss Islette Pearson. Last year Lady Scott won again, with Miss Pearson as her most formidable competitor. This year the championships were transferred to Ireland and played on the course at Portrush, near Belfast. Lady Margaret Scott was for the third time the winner; but, contrary to expectations, neither Miss Pearson, Miss Whigham nor Miss Dod, who were prominent in the preceding championships, was a dangerous competitor.

In the final round Lady Scott won from Miss Lythgoe by 5 up and 4 to play. There were 63 players. The ladies' championships are played over courses much less difficult than the regular links. St. Anne's, where the first was held, is said to be "as flat as a pancake." They are not more difficult than the inner course at the Morris County Golf club or the "Red Course" at the Shinnecock Hills club, and from the comparative scores it is not apparent, says the New York Sun, that the skill displayed is greater than is shown by the American women. There is room in this country for a union of women's clubs and a separate championship.

The amateur champion golf player of England for 1895 is Mr. Balfour Melville, a fine all around athlete, and, like Sir Walter Scott, a writer to her majesty's signet in Edinburgh. His legal duties are, to Mr. Melville's regret, gradually encroaching on the time he would rather devote to outdoor sports. Until two years ago he was president of the Scottish Football union, and Mr. Melville has won the lawn tennis championship of Scotland, besides twice being runner up to the winner. Besides being prominent in football, cricket and lawn tennis he was a good sprinter and hurdler runner at school.

Besides the championship Mr. Melville has won 23 medals at St. Andrews, including a special medal presented to him by the late Prince Leopold and also the Queen Victoria vase. He has won the Royal medal five times—1875, 1877, 1878, 1888 and 1889; the gold medal four times—1874, 1878, 1881 and 1885; the Silver cross once, in 1890; the Bombay medal six times, the George (Glenie) medal five times and the Victoria vase in 1892. This record has never been equaled by any other member of the Royal and Ancient Golf Club of St. Andrews.

In speaking of his talent for the royal and ancient sport Mr. Melville says: "I have been playing golf a great many years, but how many I can't exactly tell. My mother says that I used to play about with a club before I was 2 years old. Just about the time I was born my father bought two houses in St. Andrews, and I learned the game there. We used to spend our holidays there, and my golfing was confined to two months in each year. I was about 20 when I joined the Royal and Ancient Golf club, and I think I won the club gold medal the same year."

In the recent championship the struggle between Mr. Melville and John Ball, Jr., the title holder, was of the most sensational kind, the issue being in doubt up to the last hole. Since 1886, when it was first played for, only five amateurs have attained championship honors, two of them hailing from English soil and three from golfing Scotland. The trophy has been six times south of the Tweed, but only four times, including Mr. Melville's win, has it found a resting place on the Scottish side of the border.

J. H. Taylor, the champion of 1894 and 1895, having just won the title for the second time by a score of 322 over the St. Andrews links, learned his golf at Westward Ho, the course of the Royal North Devon club. He made his first public appearance there in 1889 in a tournament won by Douglas Rolland, tying Andrew Kirkaldy for sixth place. He first visited Scotland just before the open championships of 1893 at Prestwick. His rivals felt before him like chaff in the first round, which was made in the astonishingly low total of 75, but in the second round Taylor completely collapsed. At Sandwich last year he was as steady as a rock, four strokes only separating his best and worst rounds, the total for the four being 326. Taylor's accuracy is the remarkable feature of his game. It is said of him on the Sandwich links that there were no hazards which he need regard save the direction of the wind. Invariably he was about a yard or so to the one side or other, and once he hit one. But Taylor's great stroke is the mazy approach. In his 75 at Prestwick, according to an expert, the ball seemed to be endowed with the intelligence of a thing of life, so consecutively and persistently did it land about six feet from the hole and remain there to be holed out next stroke. He is a very fast player and unequalled for power and accuracy.

The Famous Chess Experts Who Are Again Battling For Supremacy.
Last year Dr. Siegbert Tarrasch, the German chess champion, administered an overwhelming defeat to Carl August Walbrodt, the young Dutch-German expert, but Walbrodt with commendable pluck, has returned to the attack and the two famous players are engaged in a second match.
